EARLINGTON MILITARY COMPANY

PARTICIPATE IN PARADE THIS MORNING.

There was dampness in the air yesterday morning when the band arrived and when the Veterans began to throng the streets for the Reunion of the Second Brigade, Kentucky Division, United Confederate Veterans, but there was no dampening of enthusiasm which was displayed on all hands in a youthfulness of spirit surprising in a company of gray haired veterans of a hard fought war who now average sixty-five years of age.

The officers and reception committee were kept busy all the for arrival of the train from the South bringing representatives from Camp 241, Hopkinsville, and elsewhere. Senator Jo C. S. Blackburn, one of the speakers of the day, also arrived on that train. The line proceeded to the park. Here the formal program was begun with opening prayer by Rev. A. M. Coenen and the welcoming address by Mr. Jno. B. Atkinson, in a brief speech, which follows:

Address of Welcome.

"Gentlemen of the Second Brigade, with the ladies and gentle-

"Our little city was born 34 years ago, a few years after the events transpired that made you comrades.

"You will find a city of working men, the men of the mines and the railroad, of the farms and the shops, and you will find, too,

Geo. C. Atkinson.

Member of the Committee on railroad transportation. Mr. Atkinson is Secretary and Treasurer of the St. Bernard Mining Company, which company contributed liberally to the success of the Reunion. He is a member of the Board of Councilmen of the City of Earlington and was one of the signers of the very cordial letter of invitation extended by the city authorities to the Second Brigade to hold the Reunion here.

the school house and the church, and the free library, modest, but comfortable homes, peopled with honest, industrious and thrifty, but generous men and noble women. The citizens who wore the blue will vie with those of the gray to make you comfortable; to make you forget for a little while that the years roll relentlessly on, and that at each gathering many comrades fail to answer the roll call.

"It is good to have you with us; you are here to renew and enjoy old friendships; to talk over the days that tried men's souls; to compare experiences, and to have a good time.

"Ever since it was decided that Earlington and Hopkins county were to have the honor of entertaining you, your comrades here, with bright eyes and glowing countenances have been extolling the glories of campaign life. To hear them tell it, sleeping on the wet ground, with a tree for a blanket, is the height of bliss.

"Don't let these enthused soldiers of Hopkins entice you from the comfortable beds, under hospitable roofs, we offer you.

"With Comrades Laffoon and Dean and Hockersmith and Mothershead and Wright and Tindler and Farquhar and Head and Harris anxiously waiting to second the welcome I tender you, and to make speeches themselves, if a chance is given them, with the good ladies about, ready to call you to the festive board, it would be cruel to detain you longer. Earlington is yours, and its citizens at your service."

Hon. John W. Lockett, of Henderson, responded on behalf of the Veterans to the address of welcome in a very graceful and thoughtful speech, in substance as follows:

John W. Lockett's Address.

Mr. Lockett said in substance that Confederate Veterans present here today thank the people of this progressive city for their generous welcome and you, Mr. Atkinson, for the eloquent manner in which you have expressed their welcome.

It is forty-three years since the war between the States began and thirty-nine years since the incomparable Lee surrendered as brave an army as is known to history and the Confederate government became a memory only.

Meeting to enjoy old friendships, to recall the hardships and dangers of the past and to cherish the memory of our dead comrades it is natural to dwell upon the causes which provoked a conflict of arms between men of kindred blood, proud of a common ancestry and alike devoted to secure liberty.

The South had not brought slavery into the country. It had come as much at the instance of the North as of the South. The constitution rightly denominated the band of the times provided for the surrender to their masters of slaves escaping from one State to another. It even protected the slave trade for twenty years after its adoption.

In the awful strife which followed the soil was drenched with the life-blood of the bravest sons of the South and of the North. Brother fought against brother, and in the terrible animosity of the strife, the common glories of the revolution were forgotten. We here today happily see the brotherhood restored never more I believe to be again interrupted. The South failed because the moral sentiment of the world was against slavery.

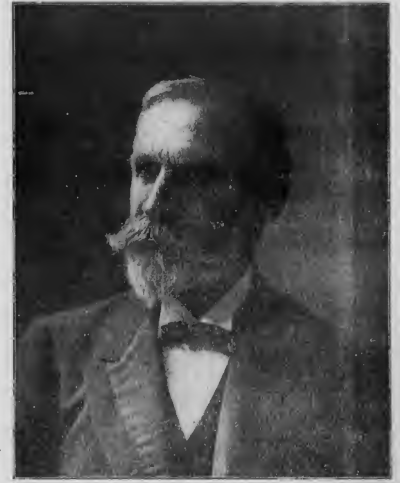

We have some consolation for all the suffering and sorrow of those dark days. It is that in the history of our race from Adam until now, the burden of the South in that struggle has never been surpassed—a heroism shared equally between the soldier in the field and Major Alonzo Tindler.

Joined the Confederate army in July, 1861, and served during the entire war. He was with Gen. Floyd in Western Virginia for a short while and then joined the Cavalry service. Served Under Jackson and Stewart in the Valley of Virginia. Was with Stewart until he was killed, afterward with Gen. Fitzhugh Lee until close of war. He was in the great fights at Gettysburg, Spotsylvania, Court House and Brandy Station. Was with Jackson when he fought Banks, Fremont and Shield in the Shenandoah Valley. He was wounded three times during the war. Mr. Tindler has been successfully engaged in the tobacco business at Madisonville for some years and is one of the best known men in Hopkins county. He is a native Virginian and was born at Culpeper Court House, Va., Aug. 8th, 1841. Major Tindler has done active service in preparing for the Reunion.

The woman who in suspense and anxiety indescribable did her part at home. I take pleasure in saying that when the South was at last overcome no defeated army was ever more magnanimously treated by the victors. The conduct of Gen. Grant

Jno. B. Atkinson.

He has cooperated heartily with the General Committee of Camp No. 528 and been active in planning and executing plans for the comfort and convenience of veterans and visitors. As President of the St. Bernard Mining Company he has extended for his company numerous courtesies to our visitors. Mr. Atkinson is a member of the Earlington City Council and, Mayor Burr being ill, he was selected to deliver the welcome address to the Veterans. He is a member of the Committee on Speakers.

toward his great adversary, Gen. Lee, and his starving and impoverished troops was sublime.

The old Confederates will do their part in advancing the general good. Since they beat their swords into plowshares and took up the duties of civil life, the surviving Confederate soldiers have in every community where they lived stood among the best. Recently I read in the papers that the old Confederates had organized to prevent pothe and the atrocities which at the hands of mobs have been a disgrace to the civilization of the dark ages. The cruelty and frequency of the mob threatens us with anarchy. If in despotic countries where people have no voice in the government we find some excuse for violence, there is none whatever among us, where the laws are made and executed by the people through their chosen representatives and servants. The good citizen should exert all his influence to suppress this and which of late has grown with alarming rapidity.

The good people of Earlington have ready and willing for the Veterans and their friends a bounteous feast, and when you have partaken of it to your full, there await you speeches from distinguished gentlemen present, and without delaying you longer from the enjoyment of the good things before you I again in the name of the Confederate Veterans here present thank you for the welcome so cordially and so gracefully extended to them.

After this dinner was served from twelve to two o'clock and everybody was filled with good things while the band discoursed sweet music. The menu was full of good, substantial things, chief of which of course was barbecued meats, burgoo, splendid coffee, vegetables and various other good and tempting dishes in abundance, and all presided over and served by the ladies of Earlington, Madisonville and Morton Gap, a number of whom were entirely on the volunteer list, but worked with the spirit of Veterans.

After dinner the large number present listened to delightful speeches by Senators James B. McCreary and Jo C. S. Blackburn, both of whom were introduced by their old comrade and confederate, Hon. Polk Laffoon. The speeches of both these gentlemen were greatly enjoyed by those present, especially the Veterans. The speaker's stand was decorated with the banners of the various camps represented. Senator Blackburn endorsed the thought advanced by Judge Lockett that the cause of the fall of the Confederacy was that the South was held responsible for maintaining an institution that was opposed by the moral sentiment of the world. He said he knew he would have a good time here before he started, that he never missed an occasion of this sort; that they hold reunions every year at Lexington, where he said there was a penalty attached to the attempt on the part of any man to make a speech. But he said notice had to be served on Senator McCreary to prevent him making the attempt. The speaker said that the average age of the veteran of the civil war is now 65 and made touching reference to the growing age and high mortality rate among the remnant of those who wore the gray. He said: "But a few more years shall pass until tape shall

Capt. William J. Stone.

Captain Stone was a gallant young Confederate officer with a splendid record as a fighter, who bears the marks of the conflict in the loss of a leg, which was shot off in battle. Captain Stone is a widely known man with an enviable record of public service, having served his State with credit in the General Assembly and also as a distinguished member of Congress. He is one of the speakers especially invited to address the Reunion.

Col. L. D. Hockersmith.

Col. Lorenzo Dow Hockersmith, commanding the First Kentucky regiment, U. C. V., is in command of the Second Brigade, Kentucky Division, at this Reunion, being next in line to General J. B. Briggs, who is unavoidably absent in New York on account of urgent business. He was working at his trade of brick mason in Louisville when the war broke out. He at once enlisted in the Confederate service and did duty as a private until Col. Adam Johnson began to recruit the Tenth Kentucky Cavalry, when he joined that regiment as First Lieutenant of Company C. By the death of Captain Wall at Milton, Tenn., he was advanced to the rank of Captain and commanded the company until his capture with General Morgan in Ohio. Capt. Hockersmith planned and carried into execution the scheme by which Gen. Morgan and his party escaped from the Ohio penitentiary. He settled at Madisonville after the war and has followed his trade to the present time, maintaining his early vigor in a remarkable degree.

Col. Hockersmith is widely known as a prominent Mason, a progressive citizen and an influential member of the M. E. Church, South. He was born at Lawrenceburg, Ky., Nov. 9, 1833.

morning receiving and registering Veterans and guests and distributing badges. Every train brought in representatives and the morning was spent in hearty hand shakings, renewing of acquaintances and recounting of reminiscences. At 11 o'clock the Veterans formed in procession with the band at the head and banners flying and marched out Main street toward Lakeside Park. The procession was held

Try for Health

222 South Pearl St., CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie on my back nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing in it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she brought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

SIGN OF THE CROSS.

Of all the dramas that have taken public fancy during the last few years probably none has achieved such a pronounced, and at the same time unusual success as has "The Sign of the Cross." Wilson Barrett's celebrated religious and historical play, which will be seen at Morton's Theatre on Tuesday evening Sept. 27. Not only has this unique drama drawn to the theatre the usual patrons of the theatre, but it has, as well, won to the side of the theatre thousands of persons who before loudly proclaimed its harmfulness. "The Sign of the Cross" deals with a religious subject and teaches a strong lesson, but this is accomplished in a manner that is so engrossing, so thrilling and so intensely interesting that it charms all who see it because of its many strong scenes and incidents and its varied and beautiful scenic accessories.

Seats on sale at Morton's Theatre Saturday, Sept. 24, at 9 a. m. Prices $1.00, 75c, 50c, and 25c.

MINING NOTES.

It is reported that the Vanderbilt furnaces of the Tutwiler Coal & Coke Co. will be shut down at Birmingham unless an unexpected supply of coke arrives before that time. The coke has been supplied by Tennessee companies, and they now refuse to continue their services on account of sympathy with the striking miners. It is also reported that the Sloss furnace, near North Birmingham, will cut down its force one-half for the same reason.

The two big furnaces of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co., at Oxmoor, Ala., have been barred, and there is a probability that the furnaces must remain shut down for an indefinite period, as it is reported there has been some hitch with reference to the supply of coke, which has heretofore been furnished by the Alabama Steel & Wire Co. from its coke ovens at Virginia mines. It is understood that the contract existing between the two companies has for some reason been canceled, and the supply being cut off, it was compelled to bank the furnaces.

J. E. Wright, of the State Geological Survey, is enthusiastic over the outlook for rich discoveries of deposits of lead and zinc in Christian county, where an examination is now being made.

The strike of the Alabama coal miners has developed into a contest between the operators and the unions. Mines are being manned with non-union labor, and the coal mine operators declare that hereafter they will not deal with the unions. At present the operators seem to have decidedly the best of the contest.

Coal diggers are again getting out coal at Pacific landing below Uniontown, Ky., where the Boaz sunk seven barges July 4, 1903. The channel of the river was changed by the wreck and an immense sandbar formed. Thousands of bushels of coal were gotten out last year and if the river continues low many more thousands will be gotten out this year. Some of the diggers wade in the water up to their necks and dive when they find big lumps. One man sometimes gets a hundred bushels a day.

"The Sign of the Cross."

"The Sign of the Cross," presented by a large company made up of prominent players from William Greet's original London, Eng., company, comes to Morton's Theatre on Tuesday, Sept. 27. Mr. Fred G. Berger has bought the American rights to the play and the organization that will present it in Madisonville is one of the best which has yet appeared in this unique drama in the United States. "The Sign of the Cross" deals with elementary passions and touches chords that recognize no restrictions of time or place. It tells a thrilling story of the oppression of the early Christians by the tyrant, Nero, and presents a series of beautiful stage pictures of the sumptuous magnificence of a pagan nation. The production as seen in Madisonville will be exactly the same that appeared during the phenomenal London engagement of the piece at the celebrated Lyric Theatre, where it ran to crowded houses for over two years, and which has been meeting with so much success in this country the past five years. Seats will be placed on sale Saturday morning at 9 a. m. at Morton's Theatre. Prices $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c. Telephone 288. Mail orders filled in order received.

WELCOME VETERANS.

It is a pleasure to note the un-failing and hearty hospitality of the Earlington people exhibited again this week to the "stranger within our gates." And yet not to strangers in the usual acceptance of the term. They are our comrades and our friends. Or, if they are not, the spirit and the efforts of the Earlington people goes for naught. But there is no fear on this score since the expressions of friendly feeling on the part of Earlington's guests are of the most cheerful and genuine character. The Confederate Veterans of the Second Kentucky Brigade, commanded at this reunion by Colonel L. D. Hockersmith, have thronged our streets and filled our homes with pleasant companionship and good cheer these two days and they leave us today with the regrets on our side. Their stay has been an unmixed pleasure to those who have taken part in their entertainment, and this number includes many people in Hopkins County outside of Earlington, who by their contributions and their labors have added much to the success of the Reunion.

The gates of Earlington are ever open with "hospitality" engraved on the posts and the veterans of the Confederacy will be welcomed at any future time to our town and our homes as they are today.

PREACHER ARMER CLAIMS INSANITY

Indicted at Calhoun and Taken to Owensboro for Safe Keeping.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 19.—The Rev. W. W. Armer, the Presbyterian preacher who is in jail here for the murder of his son, was indicted today by the McLean county grand jury for murder in the first degree. Armer will be taken back to Calhoun in the morning and arraigned for trial. His case will be set for Thursday.

He was brought to Owensboro for safekeeping. His brother, from Brosin, Ill., was in the city today, and said that all he asked for was a fair trial. Armer killed his son in McLean county on May 25, for slight provocation. He will plead insanity.

ELIJAH HAS GROWN STALE FOR DOWIE

He Now Declares Himself First Apostle of the Christian Catholic Church.

ARRAYED IN GORGEOUS ROBES HE PROCLAIMED HIMSELF AT ZION

He Quoted Scripture to His Followers in Support of the Claim He Had Made and Declared His Robes Were Patterned After Those of Moses, When the High Priesthood Was First Established.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Wearing a rich robe and miter, modeled after those of ancient Jewish high priests, John Alexander Dowie has proclaimed himself "John Alexander, First Apostle of the Christian Catholic Church."

The announcement was made in the synagogue at Zion City, Sunday, where 1,000 people had assembled.

Dowie referred to the robes in assuming office. After quoting scripture in support of the claim he had made to the title of first apostle, he said: "I did not create the office. It was created by the Lord. I did not create any more than I designed these robes. If you are in doubt as to my authority to wear them, you will find them in the twenty-eighth chapter of Exodus, the pattern given by God to Moses when the high priesthood was established."

Dr. Dowie wore a long garment of heavy white satin, lined with white silk. Over this was a purple satin robe, fringed with kilt, of knee length. The "brodered coat," the richest feature of the costume, was of white satin embroidered with geometrical patterns in purple and gold, the colors of the shroud.

The girle was there with historical accuracy, but on the breastplate, instead of the twelve jewels prescribed by the Jewish ritual, was embroidered a scarlet cross edged with gold. Dowie's headpiece consisted of a white silk mitre, or turban, ornamented with two purple bands. White silk hose and white canvas shoes completed the costume.

"The office of first apostle is perpetual," said Dowie, after he had read several long passages from Scripture. "It should have been continued. Successors to the original twelve apostles were chosen to the number of nine to fill vacancies caused by martyrdom or death. My assumption of the first apostleship is the final step in the organization of the church as planned by Jesus Christ."

In assuming his new title Dowie said to his followers: "I greet you to-day. I thank God that you are here in thousands, that there are thousands of others with us on this great occasion. Zion restoration host, do you accept John Alexander as the first apostle and the high priest of the church on earth?" "Yes!" shouted back the members of the host.

"Officers of the church, do you accept John Alexander as the first apostle of the Lord Jesus Christ to the church?" "Yes!" shouted back his leaders and advisers, and the choir broke forth in an anthem of rejoicing.

HEAD END ON FIRST DIVISION

Passenger and Freight Collided.—Two Injured.

North-bound passenger train No. 26 and south-bound freight No. 43 on the L. and N. collided head-on at Highland Park at 7:45 o'clock this morning. No one was seriously injured, but Engineer George Wilkes and Fireman Patrick F. Stone, of the passenger engine, were slightly bruised by jumping just before the collision. The collision is said to be due to the fact that the air on the passenger engine failed to work.

The freight train was trying to take the main track from the siding and was just reaching the cross track when the passenger hit. Both engines were damaged, and ten freight cars were almost completely wrecked. None of the passenger cars was derailed and save for the slight shaking up the passengers were not disturbed.

The Loss, It is said, will amount to several thousand dollars and the track was blocked for several hours.

Little's Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill."

In Memory of Ben R. Ash.

"Dead? And the summer dreaming all about him?
Dead? Ere the best of all life gives has flown?
How can the hearts that loved him live without him.
The loyal soul they cherished as their own?"

"No one that knew him ever failed to doubt him
And old friends found him faithful as of yore;
Alas! that darkness now should fall about him
And Love's own voice awaken him no more."

"Rest, kindly heart, so loyal and so tender,
Beyond earth's striving and love's anguished cries;
God grant heaven's great and everlasting splendor
Now shines forever on your dear eyes."

FROM ONE THAT LOVED HIM.

The Stomach is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, cleanses and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Geo. A. Sherman, Lisbon Rd. Mills, Lawrence Co., N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medicine and other remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of this terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night, and passed a brick-dust substance that sometimes was a slimy substance. I believe I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure."

Abuses.

W. H. Harrison, Cleveland, Miss., writes Aug. 15, 1902: "I want to say a word of praise for Butler's Snow Liniment. I stepped on a nail, which caused the pain in my leg to contract and an abscess to rise in my knee, and the doctor told me that I would have a stiff leg, so one day I went to Dr. P. Lord's office (who is now in Denver, Colo.) He recommended a bottle of Snow Liniment. I put a size and it worked my leg. It is the best liniment in the world. Abuses, with few exceptions, are indicative of a weak constitution. They may, however, result from blows or from foreign bodies, introduced into the skin or flesh, such as splinters, thorns, etc."

Principle Not Expediency.

We do not have to avoid a definite and concrete commitment on the most important issue which has recently been before the people, and which may at any time in the near future be before them again. Upon the principles which underlie the issue the convictions of half of our number do not coincide with those of the other half. So long as the Republican party is in power the gold standard is settled, not as a matter of temporary political expediency, not because of shifting conditions in the production of gold in certain mining centers, but in accordance with what we regard as the fundamental principles of national morality and wisdom.—President Roosevelt.

The Way to "Elect Parker."

(From The New York Press.) The Democratic National Committee is offering a reward, we understand, to any one who will name the best way to carry the country for Mr. Parker. We claim the reward with the following suggestion: Get all the savings bank depositors of the United States to vote for him. There are more than 7,000,000 savings bank accounts in the country. Whoever can get those depositors to vote for him has won the election. In the elections of 1896 and 1900 Mr. Parker voted to Bryan the savings of those depositors—that is, to make every dollar on deposit worth a fifty-cent piece. The depositors themselves voted to keep 100 cents of value in every dollar of their savings, and they elected McKinley and established the gold standard so firmly that even Mr. Parker now "regards" it as being an actual fact, though he has not told us what he believes about it as a principle.

All that Mr. Parker needs to do is to induce those savings bank depositors, whose deposits he voted to cut in half, to give him their unanimous vote and he will be as certain of election as was McKinley.

I lost flesh and was all run down, and I was practically given up to die. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practicing given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured."

Don't Abuse the Editor.

Every man in every town during the course of a lifetime has to ask a favor of an editor, not an exception to this rule.

A man may escape a doctor, keep clear of the court, but once in a lifetime, at least, every man has to go to the newspaper to have a certain piece put in—a death notice, a marriage notice, etc., to have a certain piece kept out or to have his name printed in or omitted from some item. It is therefore to your interest to treat the editor fairly. He deserves to be fair; he would rather do the right than the wrong thing; but if you give him a kick, the dent of it may be found in the top of your own hat some day, and you will never know how it got there. Don't you think you are immune; don't think that providence has especially favored you. Your time will come, and when it does come it will be a fine investment if you have a friend in the editor's office.—Florence (Ala.) Herald.

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago, discovered some years ago how to make salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for piles. For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. THE FAULTS OF MAN.

Could we with ink the ocean fill,
And were the ink of parchment made,
Were every single stick a quill
And every man a scribe by trade,
To write the faults of half the sex
Would drain the ocean dry.
Nor could the scroll contain the whole,
Tho' stretched from sky to sky.

Why Some People are Poor

Their ideas are larger than their purses. They think "the world owes them a living."

They do not keep account of their expenditures. They are easy dupes of schemers and promoters.

They reverse the maxim, "Duty before pleasure."

They have too many and too expensive amusements. They do not think it worth while to save nickels and dimes.

They have risked an assured competence in trying to get rich quickly. They allow friends to impose upon their good nature and generosity.

They try to do what others expect of them, not what they can afford. They do not think it worth while to put contracts or agreements in writing.

Apples Vs Drunkenness.

With the view of learning the opinions of other medical men concerning the efficacy of the habit of eating apples to destroy the taste for liquor a New York city physician corresponded with many medical men living in various states says an exchange. He received replies from all but three.

From a large majority came answers that they had never known a case where a person was accustomed to the free use of apples and was a drunkard, nor did they ever know of a drunkard who was accustomed to the daily use of apples.

From a personal observation covering a period of more than twenty-five years, the physician says he has never known a single instance where a person who was a free user of apples acquired the liquor habit, nor has he known a person addicted to the free use of liquor who was fond of apples.

Short Visit.

Theatrical Manager's Contemplated. There is a strong possibility that the big New York production of "Twelfth Night," that most clever of all the Shakespearean comedies, will in the near future visit our city. The proprietor and manager, Mr. Joseph Shipman, will personally visit us in the course of the next few days, to see if there is enough interest aroused to warrant his organization appearing here.

The production is a large and costly one, a large company is carried, also a car load of special scenery. This all necessitates a great expenditure of money, and after all, "money makes the mare go." Mr. Shipman when playing a one night stand positively insists on an advance subscription list, to insure the financial success of the engagement. If this is forthcoming in our city, and it will be given a thorough trial, a date will be arranged in the near future, particulars of which will be announced later.

Runaway Boy Returns.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 13.—Arthur White, the fifteen-year-old son of S. J. Smith, who disappeared August 8, has returned home. His disappearance caused a sensation, and searching parties scoured the woods and dragged ponds for two weeks, and a negro named Rube Watson was arrested and kept in jail several days on suspicion of having murdered the boy. The boy merely ran away from home and is reticent about where he was.

THE LAW

Requiring all persons who continue to embalm to have a State License, went into effect September 1st, and it is one of the most important ones to the public, from a sanitary point of view, passed recently. In granting this license, the party applying for same had to stand an examination on disinfecting as well as embalming. Embalming is very important, if for no other reason than a sanitary one, as it is the only sure way of disinfecting a corpse, and where this is done there is no danger of the spread of a contagious or infectious disease, where a licensed embalmer and sanitarian has charge of the case.

Under the law it is impossible to ship a corpse where death was caused by a contagious or infectious disease unless prepared for shipment by a licensed embalmer. A number of people are prejudiced against embalming through a mistaken idea of how this is done. Where we have charge of the case we make only one or two incisions in a thorough case of embalming, and never ask anyone to leave the room, as there is nothing objectionable to the work. We are qualified to take charge of all cases of contagious or infectious cases and give the necessary sanitary advice to prevent the spread of the disease.

Our facilities for conducting a funeral are as complete as it is possible for us to have them. We give this department more study than any other department, and answer all calls in any part of the county day or night.

HOW FARMER BROWN RAN A NEWSPAPER.

When it dawned on farmer Brown that through the press a man could acquire an education of the very best, He simply moved to town and bought a whole newspaper, With the expectation of making that his alma mater.

Nor did he go minus swine, horses and other cattle, And supplement of fowls that quack crow and cackle, Being anxious to have his reportorial staff complete For running of that sixteen page metropolitan sheet.

Put the dog writing doggerel and from the very start That dog was willing on such a proposition to em-bark; He scratched away all day and at night came to support The page devoted to the interest of all kind of sport.

Nag was put into harness and sent ambling to a saloon, To pull for news and material for a society cart-oon; And while there was enticed to drink hay fever away, But Nag could not be tempted a bit and resounded, Neigh.

The mule received kickers and contented sent them back, The hen laid low for personals and such stuff as that, The duck was sent out the payment of bills to demand And solicit medicine ads of the well known quack brand.

The cat's pur-suit was in the catalog of awful crime, The pigeons worked as carriers and delivered on time; And thus this barnyard folk brought news and business in For Brown and the paper that put the polish over him.

—William J. Burtcheer.

In reply to a query concerning how to put away sweet potatoes to keep for winter use: In the first place dig before frost. Dry and lay them away. Line a box or barrel well with paper, and put in a layer of potatoes, about four deep and then a layer of paper enough to make a good division and so on until the box is full. Put them where you want them for winter and keep the room warm—not below freezing at any time, and 40 to 70 degrees is better. Keep in a dry place and you can have sweet potatoes until harvest—provided you don't eat them.—Chas. B. Williams, in Ohio Farmer.

Among its other claims to celebrity, Nebraska leads all the states in its yield of popcorn. It has a special exhibit of this popular product in the Palace of Agriculture at the World's Fair and as all of its last year's crop has been bought by one of the concessionaries, it is safe to say that Nebraska will be heard as well as seen by all visitors, especially the boys and girls. Nebraska a few years ago was noted for another kind of "Pop." not so toothsome as the corn, but equally adept in making noise. This particular crop is not so abundant out there just now, the seasons not having been propitious for its growth, though it is still in evidence.

The Seedless Apple.

The new seedless apple developed by John F. Spencer, of Grand Junction, Col., bids fair to have a more revolutionary effect upon the apple growing interests of the country than even the seedless orange upon the orange interests. The effect will be more revolutionary for the reason that the apple interests are larger than the orange interests, and that the market for both apples and apple trees is larger. Apples can be grown in any country, oranges are grown only in the tropics; apples might well be called necessities, while oranges are luxuries. There are barrels of apples sold where one orange is sold.

This wide extent of the interests affected makes the development of the new apple the most important thing that has taken place in the fruit growing world for many years, and when it is known that seedless apple nurseries have been established in Utah, Idaho, California, Missouri, Michigan, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania and Canada, in addition to the home nursery at Grand Junction, Col., all within a few weeks, the rapidity with which the new apple is being taken up can be appreciated.

Soak corn in strychnine over night and early in the morning, when Mr. Mole is searching for his breakfast, take the corn and with the hand punch a hole into its pathway and drop a grain of corn into the path every four or five feet, and close the opening before leaving it.

Bees ventilate their hives and keep the air pure by having a sanitary squad beat the air into motion with their wings after the manner of our own electric fans. This ventilating squad is relieved every half hour.

Bill Nye the humorist once had a cow to sell, the story goes, and advertised her as follows: "Owing to my ill health, I will sell at my residence, in township 19, range 18, according to the government's survey, one plump raspberry cow, aged 8 years. She is of undoubted courage and gives milk frequently. To a man who does not fear death in any form she would be a great boon. She is very much attached to her present home by a stay chain, but she will be sold to any one who will agree to treat her right. She is one such short-horn and three-fourths byena. I will also throw in a double barrel shotgun, which goes with her. In May she usually goes away for a week or two and returns with a tail red calf with wobbly legs. Her name is Rose. I would rather sell her to a non-resident."

"Almost every man can have a plot of ground on which each year he can grow some new thing, if only a radish or a leaf of lettuce, to add to the real wealth of the world, I tell you, that all wealth springs out of the ground. You think that riches are made on Wall street, but they are not; they are only handled and manipulated. Stop the work of the farmer from April to October of any year and Wall street would be a barren wilderness. The street makes it easier to exchange a dozen eggs for three spoons of silk, or a pound of butter for a hat-pin, but that's all; it never created half the intrinsic value of twelve eggs or sixteen ounces of butter. It's only the farmer who is a wealth producer and it's high time that he should be recognized as such. He's the husbandman of all life; without him the world would be depopulated in three years. You don't half appreciate the profession as you ought to.

It's a shame to make the cows stand or lie in barnyards where the mud is ankle deep. I have seen cows that had to do this with hoofs badly rotted with foul. The owner suffers in such cases, but not half as much as the poor cow. And nine times out of ten a little care and foresight would save all the trouble. Don't be satisfied with making good butter. "Nothing but the best" is the watchword, that brings true success.

Nobody ever invented a strainer that would take particles of dirt out of milk. Nobody ever will. This must be done before the milking begins, by patiently wiping the udder off with a clean, moist cloth.

Every farmer should have a hot-bed. Start this in the fall by digging a hole three feet deep and six feet square and fill with coarse manure. A frame size of hole 16 inches above the surface on the north side and six inches less on the south should be provided. Fill this hole in the spring with fresh hot horse manure and thoroughly tramp as filled, being careful to keep level. Four inches of surface dirt, consisting of leaf mold or ordinary loam mixed with sand and well rotted fine manure, should be secured in the fall and kept from freezing. Thoroughly wet down the manure before applying the surface dirt.—J. L. Hartwell in Farmers' Review.

All profit that comes from a dairy cow or one being fattened is derived from the food over and above that which is necessary to sustain life.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. C. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind."

Louisville Day Plans.

A telegram received by the Exposition authorities from Mayor P. C. Barth of Louisville, Ky., states that an extra effort will be made to make September 27 a grand success as "Louisville Day." The mayor accepts the date and says it is the best that could be selected, as many of the Kentucky troops will be here at that time and can participate in the parade, which will be one of the features of the celebration.—Globe-Democrat.

Perhaps there is not another shop on the system of the L. & N. so well protected against fire as the shops at Howell, due to the enterprise and foresight of Mr. Walsh. In addition to the day fire department, which drills every other Friday afternoon, and is as efficient in fighting a fire as the best fire company ever organized, a company has been organized from the ranks of the night men, so that in case of a fire at night these men can respond promptly. This is a safe guard that may save the company many dollars.

There are plug horses, plug hats and plug men.

Fireman R. C. Williams, not being able to stand the hard work of a fireman, has been granted a transfer to the Transportation Department, where he will brake.

B. C. Thomas, formerly a fireman on the N. & D. Division, has recently moved to Evansville to be with his sick father, and has been successful in being admitted to the ranks of the St. Louis Division firemen.

J. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad System, receives a salary of $75,000.00 a year, or about $205.50 a day, including Sundays.

Passenger engine 233 has been sent from Louisville to take the place of engine 256, undergoing repairs account of wreck.

Russell Wyttenbach and his gang are busy painting signs and mile posts now.

It is said that there are many objectionable features at the Fair at St. Louis, but one has to hunt for them and pay to see them.

The telegraph office and register station at Howell has been transferred from the depot to the switchman's house, which is near the location of the former depot, the object being to avoid conductors and engineers having to walk so far for orders.

P. M. Arthur, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, says that if it were not for the saloons seven-tenths of all workmen would have their own homes.

A. J. Morris has been transferred from Earlington to Howell, where he will be employed as car oiler.

There has been so much travel out of Mt. Vernon, Ill., to the World's Fair that the company has put on an extra coach between these points, which lays over at Mt. Vernon, being picked up by 54.

"Doc" Brown, the well known boiler-maker at Howell, who has been in the employ of the company for the past 22 years, has resigned to go out West for his health.

Miss Beessie Norwood, stenographer at the ticket office of the L. & N. and L. H. & St. L. at Evansville, has returned from her vacation, which she spent at the World's Fair.

The new trains that were put on last Sunday between Nashville and St. Louis are pulled on the Henderson Division by Engineers Harry Pyle and H. E. Bateman, and on the St. Louis Division by Engineers John Burns and Ruben Sura.

Samuel Marlow, an employee of Sells & Downs' circus, has sued the L. & N. Railroad for $10,000, claiming he was ejected without cause from the circus train near Casky.

The Tennessee Central will soon put parcel cars on the trains running from Nashville to Hopkinsville. Merchants have complained that goods bought in St. Louis, Louisville or Cincinnati, were no longer in reaching Hopkinsville than were purchased in Nashville, and for this reason the parcel cars will be introduced.

On complaint of the Lumbermen's Club against the Louisville Car Service Association the Kentucky railroad commission will determine the question of whether it has authority to require the latter to extend from 48 to 72 hours the time allowed by railroad companies running into Kentucky for the unloading of cars containing lumber and other freight before adding charges for car services. It is understood that the extension will be ordered. The railroad companies affected deny the authority of the State commission to interfere and the question will be litigated in the courts.

Engineer Tom Giunini, who has been on the chain gang run, will be on through freight for several months or until the new passenger trains, 96 and 97, are taken off.

Engineer Walter Farnsworth is running the high ball runs of 91 and 92.

New time card, No. 81, took effect on the Henderson Division Sunday. Two new trains, Nos. 96 and 97, were added. No. 96 is due here at 11:04 p. m. and 97 at 4:09 a. m. These trains will do local work and 53 and 54 will be the high ball runs.

Mr. Patrick Thornton, the oldest employee of the Louisville & Nashville R. R., died in Louisville on the 18, of pneumonia, at the age of sixty-five. He has been in the force forty-two years.

In order to reduce as far as possible the number of shop cars at Howell the management has authorized an increase in the force of car repairers at that place, and Mr. Walsh has been busy the past week employing men.

Passenger engineer E. W. Bonham will leave Nashville in a few days for an extended vacation at his boyhood home near Knoxville, Tenn. He will visit his aunt, who is eighty odd years old.

Car inspector Dan Coyn was squeezed between two cars at Evansville on the 12th while putting in a knuckle, the cars being struck by a switching engine, he having no blue flag up.

A. J. Brown, boiler maker at Howell, who has been in the employ of the Company thirty-two or three years, has resigned to go out West for his health.

Electric lights will be installed in the car shops at all in a few days so that repairmen will be able to work ten hours during the winter months.

To be a successful teacher one must have extensive information and broad culture. This can be best acquired by reading. Good books are always at our command. In order to impart things to our pupils we must know them ourselves. Then let us by reading instructive books, daily add to our store of knowledge and thus stimulate our pupils to strive for learning and culture. Teachers should keep themselves informed on current events which are daily happening. Make the schoolroom attractive and both teacher and pupil will be wiser and happier.

"Just so soon and so far as we pour into all our schools the songs, poems and literature of mercy toward these lower creatures, just so soon and so far shall we reach the roots not only of cruelty but of crime."

GEO. T. ANGELL.

It is said that teachers should ever be students. The three purposes of the schools are: Knowledge, power and skill or efficiency. The business world is clamoring for efficiency, for accuracy. This must be secured in the schools or in the offices. If it is one of the purposes of the school to give efficiency, why should the pupils have to get it in the offices? It is questioned whether pupils should ever be detained after school for any purpose, except it might be to prevent their annoying other pupils on their way home. White's first fundamental principle of law of teaching is: Knowledge can be taught only by occasioning the proper activities of the learner's mind. Teachers often make the mistake of standing too near their pupils, and especially too near to those who may occupy the front seats. Pupils can hear better if the teacher may stand a little farther away, and, besides, the pupils generally like to look the teacher in the face when she may be talking. "Every child has a quick eye for the curious and interesting things in the fields and woods."

One thing we must never forget, namely: that the infinitely most important work for us is the humane education of the millions who are soon to come on the stage of action.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

The Beginning of Secular Schools.
Charles the Great was the first to prepare the way for and educational system, and this he did with an iron hand. He longed to bring back the former glory of the Roman world-empire, and to make his beloved Alexandria a second Rome. He assembled around his throne the greatest scholars of his day and with their help awakened to new life Roman academy, which had long before fallen into decay. His own children and the sons of high nobility attended the school.

Nature Study.

As our school term begins in the fall the children should be led to observe what is most beautiful and familiar in the study of plants and animals of earth and air. Fall is not the season of germination, therefore plant study should not begin with the seed, but with the mature plant. How easy to have leaves and plants familiar to all brought in.

"The school is a spiritual union between teacher and pupils."—Arnold Tompkins.

"The surest way to make a child unhappy is to accustom him to attain everything he wants to have."—Rousseau.

What the Pupils Said.

"I was trying to impress on one of my classes the other day the greatness of the Southern Confederacy, and at the same time to let it know how wonderful a man was George Washington," said S. L. Pembroke, a Paducah, Ky., school teacher. "If the Confederacy had succeeded, I asked, 'what would Washington have been the father of?'"

"Twins" was the prompt reply of one of the boys. "At another time," continued Mr. Pembroke, "I was trying to impress on my class the fact that Anthony Wayne had led the charge up Stony Point and the incidents of the charge."

"Who led the charge of Stony Point?" I asked. "Will one of the smaller boys answer?"

"No reply came." "Can no one tell me?" I repeated, sternly. "Little boy on that seat next to the aisle, who led the charge up Stony Point?"

"I—I don't know," replied the little fellow frightened. "I—I don't know. It wasn't me. I—I just came here last month from Texas."

the men of the South as those of the North were fighting for the truth as they saw it and declared: "I never ate very much fire before the war and thank God I have eaten mighty little dirt since it closed." Referring to the great struggle the southern men had to repair their ruined fortunes after the war he said "If your armies made records of which you are proud those scattered remnants made better records as citizens when they went back to their ruined homes and rebuilt the waste places after the war."

MAJ. F. B. HARRIS.

Major F. B. Harris, a soldier of Wheeler's Cavalry, now a prominent citizen of Hopkins county, was born in Trigg county, Ky., in 1845. His parents were Reuben and Malinda (Thomas) Harris, natives respectively of North Carolina and Kentucky. He was reared on his father's farm, and was attending school when the war began. So enthusiastic was he that, although only 17 years old, he entered the ranks of the Confederacy in September, 1862, to become a member of the battalion of Col. Thomas G. Woodard, afterwards known as the 2nd Ky. Cavalry, in which he was a private in Co. B. Soon after he enlisted he participated in a skirmish near Trenton, Ky., and shortly after that he was with Gen. Forest in West Tennessee, in that brilliant campaign in which the Federals were defeated at Lexington, Jackson, Humboldt, Trenton, Union City and Parker's Crossroads. In February, 1863, he took part in the attack on Fort Donelson, under Gen. Wheeler. He was with Armstrong's Brigade at Thompson Station and Chickamauga, and after that great battle served under Gen. Wheeler in Grigsby's brigade until the close of the war. He participated in the battle of Missionary Ridge and all the engagements of the Atlanta campaign, and when Sherman marched to Savannah, fought with Wheeler in his front through Georgia and the Carolinas. At the last, when Gen. Lee had surrendered and President Davis and his cabinet came through the Carolinas, hoping to make another stand in the West, he was a part of the escort of the Presidential party to Washington, Ga., where he surrendered. After his return home, yet a young man, though with nearly three years of gallant record as a soldier, was engaged in commercial business for a number of years, making his home successively at Rockcastle, Canton and Paducah. Then on account of failing health he occupied himself with farming in Caldwell county. Moving thence to Madisonville he became connected with the St. Bernard Mining Company, now the most prominent coal mining company in the State. For 10 years he has held the responsible position of Superintendent of Diamond Mines at Mortons Gap. He is a member of Madisonville Camp No. 528, U. C. V.

A business meeting followed the speaking and election of officers was formally held. This resulted in the selection of the following:

Frank A. Owen, commander of Gen. Adam R. Johnson Camp 481, U. C. V., of Evansville, was elected Colonel of the 1st Ky. Regiment, 2nd Brigade.

Maj. Chas. F. Jarrett, of Hopkinsville, commander of Ned Merriweather Camp, was elected Lieutenant Colonel of 1st Ky.

Maj. Ben F. Trumbo, commander of Adam Johnson Camp 1008, of Morganfield, was re-elected Major of 1st Battalion, 1st Ky. Reg.

Maj. Jas. H. Bozarth, commander of Rice E. Graves Camp 1121, re-elected Major 2nd Bt. James Millen, commander of Jeff. Davis Camp 1167 was re-elected Major 3rd Bt.

John Moorefield, commander of D. C. Walker Camp 640, Franklin, Ky., was elected Quarter Master of 1st Ky.

J. R. Dean, of Earlington, was elected Commissary, rank of Captain, of 1st Ky. Reg.

Dr. F. J. Sullivan, of Princeton, Ky., was elected Surgeon of 1st Ky.

The Adjutant and Sergeant Major are yet to be appointed by the Colonel.

The veterans were then assigned to sleeping quarters in the Earlington homes. Supper was served at the Park. The evening entertainment at Temple Theatre was as follows:

Song...I've Gwine Back to Dixie

Parade this Morning.

At 11:30 this morning the procession formed on Main street near Railroad, marched out Main by the Armory, where Company G, Kentucky State Guard, fell in under command of Capt. Paul P. Price. This is the company, only recently formed, which passed inspection at the St. Louis encampment in such faultless manner as to attract attention and draw much favorable comment from superior officers of the Third regiment. The line of march was thence out Day street and into Farnen by Mayor Burr's residence, where the line halted and gave three cheers for the Mayor, who is confined to his room because of broken bones received in a fall some weeks ago. The procession then moved down to Railroad and back to Main street, thence to outdoor headquarters at Lakeside Park to enjoy another barbecued dinner and pass the remaining afternoon in pleasant intercourse and renewed assurance of lasting friendship.

The veterans leave this afternoon for their various homes and Earlington will be left with the pleasant recollection of hospitality worthily bestowed, and to plan for other opportunities to open her gates to get other delightful guests in the future.

Sincere Greetings and Regards.

Extracts from letters of sincere regret written by men of prominence, showing how close are the ties of old comradeship: These letters were addressed to Hon. Polk Laffoon, chairman of the speakers committee.

My dear comrade: Accept my sincere acknowledgments for the very cordial invitation of your committee to be present at the approaching Reunion of your Brigade at Earlington, and for the expression of your solicitude regarding my serious illness. Much as I desire to meet again with my old comrades, the feeble condition of my health renders it impossible for me to be present. Please extend to my Confederate friends my fraternal greetings and sincere wishes for their prosperity and happiness.

Fraternally yours,

S. B. BRUCKNER.

Glenilly, Sept. 13, 1903.

My dear Polk:

Yours of Sept. 2nd, forwarded to me here and only received yesterday. It would give me infinite pleasure to accept the invitation, but I do not see how it is possible. I have been away from home two weeks on law business, and will not reach home before the middle of next week and then go at once into court. Please say to our old comrades how much I appreciate the invitation. How sincerely I regret my inability to accept it. * * * * *

Your friend and comrade,

WM. C. P. BRUCKENRIDGE.

Gen. Basil Duke writes expressing his regrets that he cannot be present, both Mr. Laffoon and Mr. Atkinson having letters from him. In one letter he says: "Unfortunately, I am not sure that I can come at that date. Nothing could please me more than to meet my old comrades in that part of Kentucky and it would do me good to go if I only saw you again."

Hon. Hunter Wood, who is Adjutant of the Camp at Hopkinsville, was also a delegate to the Council of the Episcopal

TEMPLE THEATRE.

Where the speaking and entertainment by the Daughters of Confederacy was held last night.

All of the participants in the musical program given at Temple Theatre Wednesday night for the amusement of the ex-Confederate Veterans were roundly applauded and the old Veterans expressed themselves as well pleased with the entertainment.

A much larger number of visitors were present today than Wednesday on account of the beautiful sunny weather. All were fed and J. R. Dean, Jno. W. Teyman and Henry Jones handled the crowd in good shape.

While Earlington does not claim to be the best town on earth, she never undertakes to do a thing unless she does it well. Ask the old Confederate Veterans.

While on their line of march to the park this morning the old soldiers halted at various places along the line and gave three hearty cheers for THE EARLINGTON BEE, Jno. B. Atkinson, Mayor W. F. Burr and the officers of the St. Bernard Mining Company.

Some of the Veterans said to Earlington parties that they had taken part in many reunions but were never more royally treated than at Earlington.

The Confederate Veterans wish to especially extend thanks to the ladies of Earlington, Madisonville and Mortons Gap for their unflinching attention while serving meals at Lakeside Park.

EARLINGTON PUBLIC SCHOOL.

The Earlington Public School will be opened next Monday morning, September 25, under auspices that promise well for the progress and welfare of our children.

Capable and efficient teachers have been employed and all will be done by them to make this the most profitable year of our public school. Mr. Andrew P. Dustin, of Jeffersonville, Ind., a live, progressive educator of several years' experience, has been elected principal. Misses Mary Mothershead, Lizzie Dean and Nellie Carlin and Mrs. Pearl Miller as assistant teachers. Let the parents unite in their efforts and see that each pupil of school age be present at the opening next Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

Capt. Ned Smith, of Christian county, expressed himself in the most vigorously cordial terms as to the treatment he had received while here and declared that he "felt like dying here and being resurrected with the Earlington people."

The familiar strains of "Dixie" were frequently heard during the Reunion. This continues to be the old soldiers' favorite.

Col. Frank O. Owens was on the dot all the time and helpful to everybody with his usual store of tact and humor. As Field Marshal he looked a veritable Napoleon and filled the place full. His election to the Colony of the First Regiment was an honor all agree was fully deserved.

Little Winnie Davis Hart sang herself into the hearts of the old soldiers at Temple Theatre Wednesday night.

Too one who attended the Reunion were profuse with praises for the excellent coffee served.

ONE THOUSAND VISITING MASONS.

Henderson, Ky., Sept. 19.—One thousand visiting Masons from all parts of the State were in the city today, the guests of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 9, F. and A. M., and assisted in celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the institution of that lodge in this city.

Nearly, if not all, of the members of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky were present. Among the most prominent Masons present were Grand Master Owen D. Thomas, of Lebanon; Junior Grand Warden Sam K. Veach, of Carlisle; Past Grand Master John G. Orendorff, of Russellville; Past Grand Master H. H. Holoman, of Madisonville; and Deputy Grand Master R. H. C. Rhea, of Morgantown; Past Grand Master W. G. Witt, of this city.

The public meeting which was held at the Baptist church this afternoon was well attended. This meeting was presided over by John C. Worsham, Master of Jerusalem Lodge. Two able addresses were delivered at this meeting. The first was by R. H. C. Rhea on "The Philosophy and Birthplace of Masonry." He went to the root of the matter and threw much intellectual light upon Masonry.

The second address was by B. G. Witt. His was an historical address, with "Jerusalem Lodge" as his subject. A meeting of the Grand Lodge was held and the Degree of Master conferred upon George Schwalmeier. A buffet luncheon was served, and at 10 o'clock tonight a banquet was given and the following toasts were responded to: "The Grand Lodge," W. M. Owen D. Thomas; "How goes the Hour," R. W. Sam K. Veach; "The Masonic Home," M. W. John G. Orendorff; "Jerusalem Lodge, No. 9," Bernard G. Witt; "The Ladies, God Bless Them," Tis Hard to Be Happy Without Them," H. H. Holoman.

Resolution on Death.

Hall of Howell Court 270, T. B. H. Whereas, The Grand Supreme Chief of the Universe, in His all-wise distribution of justice and mercy not always plain to mortality but evidently designed for the betterment of mankind, teaching, as this lesson does, that in the midst of life we are in death, has seen fit to remove from our midst all that was more of Bro. Walter D. Rutherford, who accidentally lost his life in the discharge of his duties as Conductor on the L. & N. R. R. Therefore, Be it Resolved, That we deplore the loss of our esteemed brother but humbly bow in submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well and pray for the guardian angel to watch over and protect his bereaved wife and relations.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be furnished to his bereaved wife, spread upon the minutes of the Court and also a copy be printed in the Earlington Bee and the Evansville Courier.

TWO MEN SHOT

Blind Tiger Devotes Dethrone Law for a Few Minutes at St. Charles.

MARSHAL DISARMED AND CLUBBED.

Blind tigers in the neighborhood of St. Charles, this county, bore fruit Tuesday night and blood was spilled. Two negroes, Frank Owen and Willis Glass, and one white man, Lon McIntosh, all drunk, entered the town looking for trouble. Meeting the town marshal, Abe Adams, they disarmed a d clubbed him, then rushed for his assistant, Marion Long. Long ordered them back and when they continued to press him fired two shots, one of which took effect in the foot of his own sixteen year old son, Elmer Long, who was unfortunately in range.

The crowd scattered and Willis Glass, one of the negroes of the drunken trio, met Arthur Beatty, another negro, in another part of town and asked him for more cartridges. Beatty refused and Glass shot him in the face, shoulder and head, with a pistol. The last heard of Glass in St. Charles he was still looking for ammunition. The two injured men were at once taken to the surgeons and their wounds dressed but neither was found to be seriously hurt. There was for a time considerable excitement and Sheriff Ashby was notified. He advised that the marshal summon deputies and arrest Glass and the others who created the trouble if they could be found.
